INDIGENOUS LAW BULLETIN

contribute /

The Indigenous Law Bulletin welcomes contributions from anyone with an interest in issues affecting Indigenous peoples. You can contribute by writing, submitting artwork, volunteering your time or refereeing articles. Author contributions are not paid. For more information please contact the editors by calling 02 9385 2256 or email ilb@unsw.edu.au

writers

Contributions are invited from Indigenous and non-Indigenous writers. Indigenous people are particularly encouraged to contribute. Legal knowledge or expertise is not required.

The Indigenous Law Bulletin is read by a wide range of people. We prefer writing in plain English and we ask that technical language and jargon be kept to a minimum. Aboriginal English is an exception but may be translated where necessary. For style-guide information, please consult the Australian Guide to Legal Citation: <http://mulr.law.unimelb.edu.au/aglclld.asp>

If you would like more information about publishing an article in the Indigenous Law Bulletin, or if you would like to discuss your ideas before you write, please contact the editors.

reviews

Any article submitted for publication may be subject to anonymous peer review. If you are interested in being a reviewer, please contact the editors.

artists

The Indigenous Law Bulletin showcases and pays for the reproduction of works by emerging and established Indigenous artists. Cover artwork is reproduced in full colour and up to seven black & white or colour reproductions are included inside. The cover artwork is also displayed on the ILB website. We accept visual art contributions in just about any medium. Submissions can be provided as 600dpi electronic scans or high resolution digital photography. Electronic submission is preferred, either as email attachment or on CD.

Please complete and return by fax to 02 9385 1266 or mail with cheque to:

Since 1981 the Indigenous Law Bulletin has led the way with accessible, accurate and timely information about Australia's Indigenous peoples and the law. We write for everyone with an interest in Indigenous legal issues including legal practitioners, advocates, policy makers, researchers and students. We cover legislation and government policy, case law, parliamentary proceedings, international developments, local activism and the work of Indigenous communities and organisations. We report on a myriad areas, including crime, family law, native title, custody issues, legal services, international and comparative law, land and water rights, intellectual property and copyright law.
