

International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women

Taking a stand against violence in Indigenous communities

Never Stand Still

Faculty of Law

Indigenous Law Centre

The forum will commence with a screening of Lani's Story, a documentary which explores the impact of intergenerational violence within a family and community and how the courage of one person can transform the lives of others. The documentary has received several awards including the 2010 Best Documentary, United Nations of Australia Media Peace Award and in 2011, two Eliminating Violence Against Women Media Awards.

After the screening, a panel will discuss the role we can all play in taking a stand against violence within Indigenous communities. The Open Forum's Panel will include:

- Professor Megan Davis (facilitator);
- Lani Brennan;
- Dr Kyllie Cripps, Senior Lecturer, Faculty of Law;
- Inspector Julie Boon, NSW Police Force; and
- Thea Deakin-Greenwood, Wirringa-Baiya Aboriginal Women's Legal Centre.
